Record rainfall causes flooding throughout county

Trent-Severn Waterway officials have issued a high-water warning after nearly 2.5 inches of rainfall over the weekend. According to Water Control Engineer Bruce Kitchen, that's "as much rain as we would normally get in a month."

The heavy rains caused flooding throughout the area. Kennedy Surplus on Maple Street in Haliburton village was flooded once again. According to Dysart Reeve Murray Fearrey, between $20,000 and $30,000 damage was caused in the municipality by high waters.

The PineStone Inn's golf course suffered extensive damage as a result of the flooding.

Wayne McGilvary of the Inn said about $10,000 was sustained on the golf course...and the season opening "has been deferred until Thursday."

"It's just like a sponge out there," he added.

Greens were flooded, ponds and creeks overflowed onto the fairways; the golf course's irrigation system was ruined, and several large trees blown down, he said.

Culverts and footbridges were also affected, said McGilvary.

"We are expanding the course to 18 holes. This will set us back...quite a bit will have to be redone," he said.

The Inn itself was not damaged by the flooding.

"Roads were washed out in numerous areas, including Haliburton Lake, Kennis Lake, Drag Lake and the Harcourt area," he said.

In the Monmouth Township area the Essonville Line was submerged in several places. In the hamlet of Wilberforce high waters knocked down trees and washed away bridges and docks.

Water still high

Trent Severn officials issued a press release Tuesday advising that "recent heavy rainfall, especially in the Burnt, Gull, Black and Severn watersheds has increased lake levels and river flows to spring freshet conditions in flood-prone area."

"Residents along lakes and rivers are advised to exercise extreme caution due to the strong currents and cold water temperatures. The Trent Severn Waterway also warns that high flows make conditions much more hazardous near dams," states the release.

Kitchen told the Echo that unofficial measurements showed 0.50 inches on Saturday morning, 0.33 inches on Saturday afternoon and a further 1.6 inches of rain fell in Haliburton County this weekend. He said he couldn't remember the last time that much rain fell here -- although there was a 2.5 inch fall in the Kawartha area in 1980.

The waterway official said there was "concern about the village of High flood waters Saturday night mangled this MTC culvert on Highway 118, just outside Haliburton. It wasn't a pleasant task for this MTC worker -- a total of 2.5 inches of rain fell down over the weekend.

Many roads were washed out, and the PineStone Inn's golf course sustained $10,000 in flood damage.

Minden," since high water levels "are beginning to threaten roadways." The worst problem is in the Elephant Lake to Pine Lake chain.

"There's a large flow going through that area," said Kitchen. The chain of lakes "drains into the Gull river system," he added.

At Kennis Lake the rains have "overfilled" the lake, and for a time there was a real fear that the dam might give out. While most control dams are built on bedrock, said Kitchen, the dam at Kennis Lake is built on soil.

"Had the soil eroded (due to the high water) it could have undermined the dam...and it might have failed," noted Kitchen.

The Redpine-Hawk-Boshkung Lake chain, which also empties into the Gull, is past the dangerous point. Water levels are beginning to go down, said Kitchen.

"Our most concern was on Sunday," said Kitchen.

Maple Lake was "still rising...even today (Tuesday) said Kitchen.

"We can't do much more...the logs are all out at Gull Lake," he added.

While the peak high water level had not yet passed Tuesday in the Gull system, the Burnt River branch "seemed to have passed" by Monday night.

So far most reports have indicated road washouts, loss of docks and bridges, and property damage, he said.

"Conditions are bad...there's no place to send this water to. The major control points are wide open," said Kitchen.

Dysart is briefed on conflict legislation

Dysart Reeve Murray Fearrey feels the province's new municipal conflict of interest legislation will do little to aid elected and appointed officials in Ontario.

More than anything, he said, the new law is a "nuisance" that may discourage working people from wanting to hold public office.

Officials from the Ministry of Municipal Affairs and Housing were on hand Monday to brief Dysart councillors on the new legislation.

The revised act, said ministry spokesman, Paul Jones, replaces one that "was drawn up by lawyers for lawyers" and was considered by many to be "a trap for the innocent...and an escape route for the guilty."

Under the old act elected officials did not have to explain why they had an interest in a given matter...and needed only announce that interest.

By the new act, Bill 14 (An Act to revise the Municipal Conflict of Interest Act) puts much more emphasis on the integrity of the individual.

Basically, elected officials must state whether they have a direct or indirect "pecuniary interest" (a financial interest) in any matter coming before them -- whether they be municipal councillors, school board trustees, appointed members of a county or district committee, or any other form of "local board" that requires an election or municipal appointment for membership.

Complicated legislation

- The member must
- disclose his interest in the matter, and the general nature of that interest
- not take part in discussion or voting on the matter
- not attempt to, before or after the meeting, influence fellow members
- leave a private or closed meeting if he has an interest

Jones said that the reason for the act's provision of disclosing the nature of an interest is so that there's no confusion in the public's mind about the member's position. He also pointed to the fact that it's up to the member -- or retired former member -- to have his interest go on the record, and to decide whether that interest is significant.

For a hypothetical example, he said a typewriter company worker would not benefit directly if his elected board voted to order typewriters from his company -- and would therefore not need to declare direct or indirect interest.

However, the stiff legal penalties -- including the loss of office and restitution -- make Fearrey somewhat leary. He told the Echo members might declare interest on trivial matters, just to cover themselves against possible court problems later on.

"I had to declare a pecuniary interest today because the company I work for sells building supplies to some of the contractors" mentioned at council, he pointed out.

Jones advised council members to consider buying legal liability insurance "for added peace of mind."

Council says no to main street arcade proposal

A Haliburton business was denied a Dysart arcade licence Monday, while a second video-game owner was told he must acquire one to stay in operation.

Both moves came during Monday's meeting of Dysart council. Grant Lubin, owner of The Pizza Place in Haliburton applied for a licence to operate two games in his business. Under the most recent version of the by-law introduced a month ago, a $500 licence fee must be paid by any non-licensed premise operating one or more of the games.

Lubin had noted in his request that his business was open longer than the municipal hours of arcade operation would permit and offered to pull the plugs on the machines at the required times each day.

However, explained Reeve Murray Fearrey, council turned down the request "because of their position on arcades" on Haliburton's main street.

The reeve and other council members have stated many times that there should be no more than one arcade on the village's main street.

The reeve also pointed out that there is no upper limit on the number of machines an arcade licence holder may operate when he meets the conditions of the by-law. Although Lubin stated he only wanted to operate the two machines at his store "he could just as easily operate 20" with a licence, said the reeve.

Lubin did not attend the Monday meeting.

A second video-game operator, Peter Kantor of the Green Lake Resort, was told he would have to pay the $500 fee and abide by the terms of the by-law if he intended to keep operating his three machines.

Kantor protested, saying the $500 fee was unfair to his rural operation in Guilford township. "I wouldn't mind paying $500 for a licence if I was on the main street of Haliburton," he said.

Reeve Murray Fearrey and Coun. Glen Hodgson both said that the by-law must be universal in its application, in order to be fair. "You can't have (a different fee) for Havelock, Harburn and Guilford townships," said the reeve.

The resort owner said the licence fee would make it difficult for him to afford to operate the games. He asked if he could get a licence to operate them just in the summer months.

The reeve said there is a clause in the by-law that gives council the right to refund a portion of the licence fee for people operating games for only part of the year. However, he said, he "couldn't guarantee" council would necessarily support such a request.

Eleven want AHM position

About 11 people have applied for the position of project manager for the AHM NEED project.

Clerk-treasurer Elinor Burk told the Echo that "10 or 11" names had been received by the May 6 deadline. She said the applications may be dealt with at this Thursday's regular meeting of council.

The project manager would oversee the $199,000 municipal im-

OPP report

During the period between May 2 and 8, personnel at the Minden detachment investigated four motor vehicle accidents (one person injured) and 50 general occurrences including 17 break and enters and two impaired drivers.

Cottage break-ins

Nine cottages on Three Brothers Lake in Stanhope Township and another on nearby Saskatchewan Lake, were broken into recently. Most were damaged by the culprits. A $1,000 aluminum boat, stolen to gain access to the cottages, was recovered.

In the damage spree, furniture was thrown through windows, doors were kicked in, a TV set was shot up and numerous other items were destroyed. Estimates of damage and theft have not yet been completed but it is believed damage will total more than $1,000 and theft $4,000.

Three persons have been charged in connection with the occurrences: James Foster, 32, of Pickering; Wade Gallant, age 30, of Toronto, and Luis Pacheco, age 25, of Toronto.

Some of the stolen property has been recovered. Investigators on the case are PC Brian Ladurantaye and PC Glenn Irving.

Assault

On Saturday, May 7, shortly after 11:00 p.m., Minden taxi driver Edward Pritchard, age 51, picked up three fares at a Minden hotel. Because they were unruly in the cab, he stopped and told them to get out. Once outside a scuffle ensued and Pritchard was knocked to the ground.

Two persons were charged in connection with the occurrence -- Ricky Varty, age 18, of Lindsay and Paul Wilkinson, age 18, of Lindsay.

Accident

On Wednesday, May 4, on Dover Springs Road in Dysart Township, Andrew Nikiforuk, age 28, of Winnipeg, Manitoba, drove off the road into a tree while rounding a curve. The car incurred $2,000 damage. A passenger, Christopher Nikiforuk, 24, of Toronto, received a minor injury. The driver was charged with careless driving. The investigator was PC Bob Wood.

Marilyn Stouffer conducted the Haliburton Highlands Guild of Fine Arts Choral Society last Wednesday. Catherine Kellett was the accompanist, and Nancy Robichaud, Ruth Pogue, Shirley Hill and Donna Jowett were featured soloists.

Institute honors Frost

An interdisciplinary research institute in Canadian studies which plans to offer an M.A. program in September 1984, was officially dedicated at the Leslie M. Frost Centre for Canadian Heritage and Development Studies by Ontario Premier William Davis at a special convocation ceremony at Trent University April 15.

Premier of Ontario from 1949 until he retired to the Lindsay area in 1961, Frost was Trent's first Chancellor. In 1969, he created an endowment fund -- the Leslie and Gertrude Frost Canadian Studies Foundation -- in order to provide continuing support for Canadian Studies at Trent.

Before becoming premier Frost served as treasurer and minister of mines. He attended the University of Toronto and Osgoode Hall, and received several honorary degrees. He was a director of many corporations. Frost served in the First World War in France and Belgium with the Simcoe Foresters, 157th Battalion and the 20th Canadian Infantry, and was a member of the Sir Sam Hughes Branch of the Royal Canadian Legion in Lindsay.

He wrote Fighting Men, a book about Canadian participation in the first World War and Forgotten Pathways of the Trent, a

Dysart council talks with Chamber; budget is delayed

It was a long day for Dysart councillors Monday, as they dealt with a broad spectrum of issues ranging from fireworks to the Haliburton Highlands Chamber of Commerce.

Fireworks set

Council voted in favor of fireworks displays in the near future in Dysart. They are scheduled for May 21 in Haliburton village, July 1 in West Guilford, and July 2 at Sir Sam's, in Eagle Lake.

Coleman Lake

Dysart council will contact cottagers at the Coleman Lake subdivision to poll them for their views on a plan to bring their road up to standard.

The plan calls for Dysart to assume the road -- which serves 14 cottagers -- and grade it, using local gravel. In return for the use of their machinery, Dysart crews would quarry some extra gravel from the area.

Reeve Murray Fearrey said it would be important to discuss the matter with the cottagers, since most would likely "fear a gravel pit" near their properties. Assurances would have to be given the cottagers that the pit would be sloped after gravel is extracted.

After meeting with cottagers council will approach the subdivision owner and bank officials -- if the cottage owners are receptive to the idea.

Chamber in town

Haliburton Highlands Chamber of Commerce representatives Bob Stinson and Rhonda Elstone attended to bring council up to date on the Chamber's latest promotional ventures.

Among the items discussed were the Chamber's new brochures and maps, which are displayed in attractive wooden racks. Stinson explained the SMI program, whereby "enquiry cards" are made available at southern Ontario retail outlets. So far the response to the program has been good, he said.

Similarly, comment cards will be made available to visitors to the county...and tourists will be encouraged to voice their comments, be they good or bad.

"We're getting the message across that we do care about tourists," explained Stinson, adding that negative comments "will help us identify any hot spots" that might exist.

Other matters mentioned included the plastic bag campaign, participation at various show, attendance at conferences "to steal ideas" from other tourism areas, and so on.

Stinson pointed to the upcoming ceremony (May 18) that will launch the county's "trade dollar" program. Already some 130 $25 silver coins have been sold, as well as $3,000 worth of $1 coins.

Coun. Dorothy Baker said the trade dollars will be given out, as prizes, to every young participant in track and field events during the Spring Fling.

Coun. Glen Hodgson suggested to Coun. Glen Hodgson suggested to date (Stinson) said they will be next year) and suggested a field sign be placed at the strategic junction of Highways 35 and 118, at Carnarvon. That location "would be better than the Haliburton/Muskoka border" for helping travellers find Minden, Dorset and Haliburton, said Coun. Hodgson.

RRAP program nears

Canada Mortgage and Housing Corporation's Rural RRAP program could be underway as early as June 1 in Dysart.

A letter from CMHC official Jeff Loucks, read at council Monday, suggested council and federal officials "meet again and review this agreement."

Reeve Fearrey said the next step in the program would be the drafting of a formal agreement.

Briefly

• an LLBO hearing on Haliburton's Dixie Lee restaurants' application for a liquor licence is to be held in the near future. Council learned a final time for the hearing has not yet been set. The meeting will be open to the public.

• the Haliburton and District Association for the Mentally Retarded requested some help from the township in renovating their building -- the old nurses' residence in the village. Among the suggestions made was new sidewalks, gravel on the driveway, storm doors and windows, and siding. Council, which regularly assists the group, will examine what aid they can offer this year.

• the Dysart budget was not presented as scheduled, apparently because data from the Haliburton County Board of Education had not yet been received.

Haliburton's $120,000 ONIP program is ready

Phase one of Haliburton village's Ontario Neighborhood Improvement Program (ONIP) is underway -- and that means a new roof will be installed at the Dysart community centre this year.

Details of the $120,000 program were discussed by Dysart Reeve Murray Fearrey following council Monday.

Other projects in phase one of the three-year-plan include paving the parking lot and Rotary Beach and paving the area around the Haliburton fire hall, he said. The provincial government foots half the bill of the program, added the reeve.

The existing salvage-edge roof will be replaced with corrugated, pre-painted metal roofing, he explained. That will "eliminate the shovelling of snow from the roof" during the winter -- a practice that over the years made the roof extremely leaky.

Most of the paving work will be contracted out, he said, since Dysart road crews aren't equipped to carry out "hot mix" construction. Municipal crews will carry out grading and preparation work, added Reeve Fearrey.

If funds are forthcoming next year, the major projects would be the reconstruction of the Maple and Highland Street corner, he said.

The work answers "a perceived need in the community," said Reeve Fearrey.

From the front page

provement project. Council received a $145,000 federal grant last month, and are to chip in a further $53,300 of their own.

Among the many projects outlined in the municipality's NEED application were repairs to sidewalks, parking lot improvements, river frontage development, work at the Scotch Line winter park, and canopies and covered walkways on the main street.

A municipal committee will examine the feasibility of the proposed projects, and will determine which ones have priority.

Daffodil drive brings in $850

The Daffodil Day drive in Haliburton netted a total of $850 for cancer research -- despite the fact that it was a poor year for the yellow blooms.

Organizers placed daffodils and coin boxes in Haliburton and area businesses and as well individually canvassed people for financial contributions.

"It was a more involved (campaign) this year," explained organizer Nancy Brink. She explained that two separate campaigns have to be carried out -- a drive to raise money through donations for daffodils, and the canvassing of businesses "to pay for the daffodils and their advertising."

She said it had been a poor year for daffodils, because of weather. In Toronto, daffodils received were so poor "they couldn't use them," she explained. However, people here were very responsive to the program.

She praised the hard work of the volunteers, and thanked them for their participation.

Liberal Task Force sets first meeting date for Goderich

The Ontario Liberal Task Force on the problems of rural municipalities will hold its first hearings in Goderich June 1.

In a press release issued last week Victoria-Haliburton MPP John Eakins, who chairs the task force, said "changing demographics, mounting unemployment and a fragile agricultural and industrial base each contribute to the pressures" faced by smaller communities.

Riddell, Gordon Miller, Robert McKessock and Earl McEwen.

Questions to be addressed by the task force include:

- how to keep skilled labor in small towns. How can we make apprenticeship and manpower training programs more suitable to the smaller industrial facility?
- how to improve the revenue picture for small municipalities and how to reverse the erosion of municipal government autonomy.

Eakins chairs group

"It is our hope we can uncover ways in which the Ontario government can help our rural communities survive the current recession, and flourish in any anticipated recovery," added Eakins.

Eakins, a former mayor of Lindsay, told the Echo that Haliburton County would be among the destinations the task force will visit.

Members of the force include Liberal MPP's Herb Epp, Jack

- how to improve transportation between rural communities and how to develop more effective and viable links between smaller centres.

- the need for a workable policy on the locating of industrial facilities and how smaller municipalities can be assisted to more effectively compete for jobs and investment.
- how to strengthen the political clout of smaller municipalities.

Mrs. Margaret Wallace of Eagle Lake, who will be 90 years old, July 15 was honored by her fellow members of the Haliburton Hospital Auxiliary. Mrs. Wallace has not missed a meeting in 50 years, and recalls with pleasure the old days of garden parties at the W.R. Curry residence, and annual New Year's dances.

Eakins will look into fishing controversy

Victoria-Haliburton MPP John Eakins plans to look into the recent changes in Ontario's fishing laws -- with a particular eye turned towards legislation affecting U.S. tourists who want to fish here.

Eakins told the Echo last week that there has been considerable opposition south of the border to recent changes put forward by the Ministry of Natural Resources.

As an example, he produced a recent article in a Columbus, Ohio newspaper that called the changed "a declaration of war on fishermen, hunters and campers from the United States."

The article calls attention to changes that "require U.S. citizens who want to fish, hunt or camp (here) to have a base of operations in Canada, pay a lot more for a fishing licence, and have proof that any live bait used in Ontario waters was purchased in Canada."

Americans will see the cost of a fishing licence soar from $15 (U.S.) a year to $24 (U.S.) for just three weeks.

"It's difficult to determine what a fair share should be for non-residents," states Citizen-Journal columnist Michael Hoffman. "Right now, non-residents are the only ones who are required to buy a licence for sport fishing in Ontario. Ontario residents don't have to pay a dime."

"If you put it all together," he concludes, "the message is quite clear: Americans, stay home!"

Eakins said that the licence move, as well as the controversial change in the Indian fishing rights agreement are "questionable" examples of government policy "that should be looked into."

New AHM councillor to be sworn in

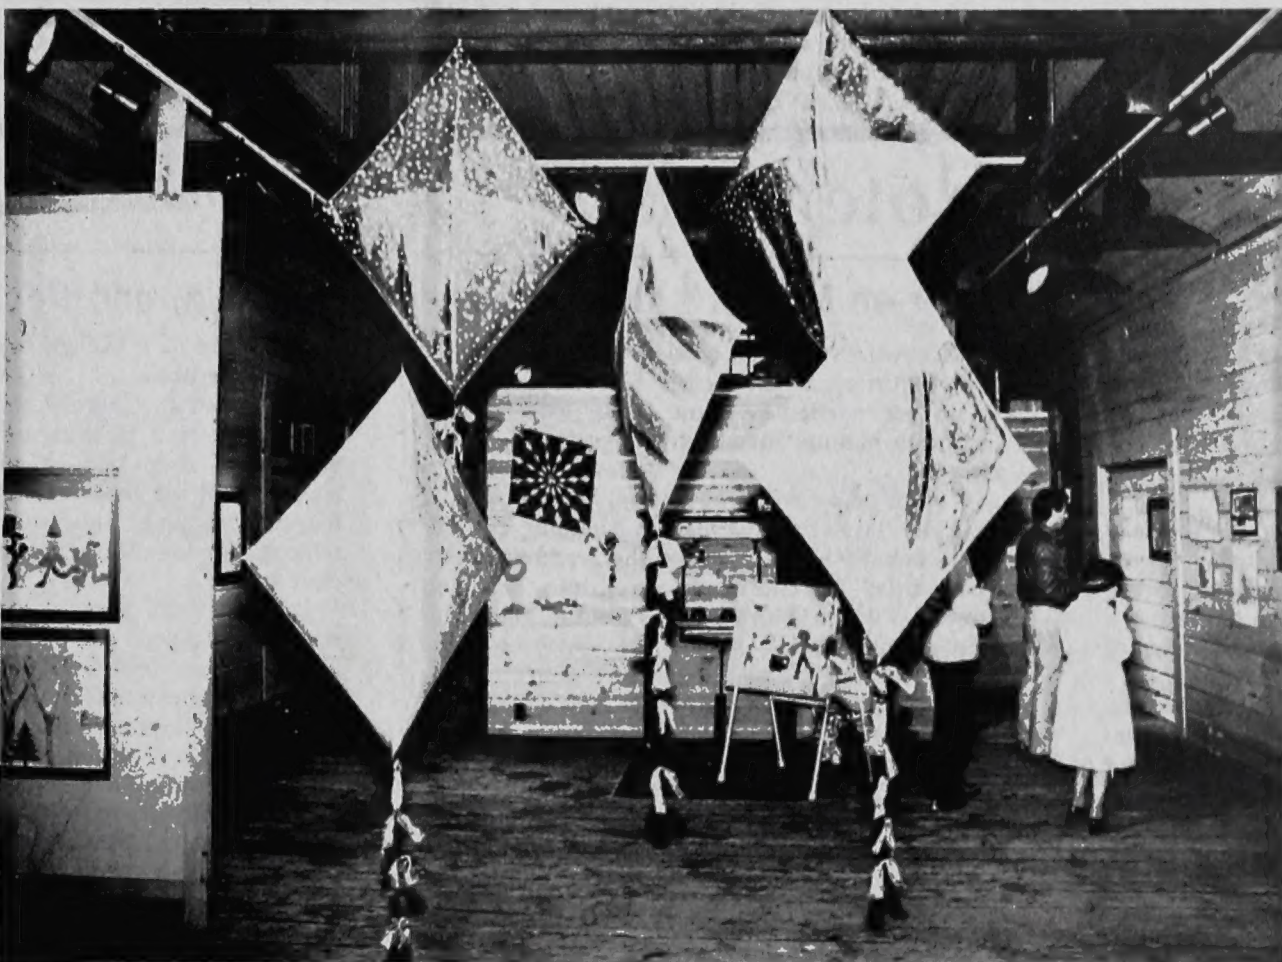

David Stevens has been appointed member of Anson, Hindon and Minden council following a special meeting held last week.

Stevens is well-known to most Minden-area residents. He is the owner of the Beaverbrook Golf Club in the village. He will attend his first meeting tomorrow (Thursday).

He fills the gap created by the resignation of Larry Cummins, who left his seat effective May 1 due to health reasons.

In last November's election Stevens polled 470 votes, finishing fourth out of eight candidates for council.

In his speech at the all-candidates meeting the Minden businessman called for an open door council and stronger ties with the Haliburton Highlands Chamber of Commerce, to promote tourism.

Kites, paintings, sketches and other works of art were on display at the Rail's End Gallery last week as a show of Children's Art opened. Local students took part in skits and the night proved a success. The show runs until May 29. Wooden toys and books were on display as well.

No chivalry

In a very peculiar turn of events last week Ontario Treasurer Frank Miller, the P.C. member from Muskoka, found himself in the same hotseat he had joked about just two weeks before.

Reporters had "found" advance draft copies of the new Ontario budget; and in a surprising display of inter-party solidarity Millar announced that he, like federal Finance Minister Marc Lalonde, would not step down -- and would re-write the budget.

Like Lalonde, Miller had joked with the media before releasing his budget document. While the former now carries a can of "zoom repellent" to ward off those watchful lenses, Millar had last week mugged for cameras with his budget "leak" -- a rolled-up copy of the comic book "Scary Tales".

Lalonde please innocence, on the ground that the leak was "an accident." Millar says his sudden disclosure was due to theft by Globe reporters -- also not a "leak."

"It's funny how times have changed. Twenty or thirty years ago any cabinet minister caught with his pants down in this matter would have been gone with the wind."

But Lalonde, with his unbelievable carelessness and Millar, perhaps a victim of espionage but still responsible, cling to power.

Many Liberals and Tories we talked to blamed the press for creating these problems -- or "stirring things up." Perhaps, but the fact that reporters were able to find out top-secret information with so little apparent effort speaks volumes for the security problems in this country today.

Other observers wonder if the "leaks" were intentional -- and whether the ministers involved used carefully-selected fiscal trial balloons to informally poll the public before budget night. This latter view seems somewhat far-fetched, at best.

Our two politicians are political victims these days -- but it's a certain bet that once the noise dies down they will quietly continue the implementation of their strategies.

The days of political chivalry seem sadly distant.

Board correct

The Haliburton County Board of Education has made a wise move by supporting the Ministry of Education's stand on French-language education rights in the province.

At their April 26 regular meeting the board passed a motion "supporting the statements of the Minister of Education...made on March 23, 1983, regarding Ontario's goal of providing equal education opportunity to all Ontario school children, regardless of whether their mother tongue is French or English."

The move makes sense both economically and morally.

The board, in supporting the move, is encouraging the growth of more French-language education facilities in the province...without having to take steps to establish these facilities here.

Unless there's a drastic change in demographics the number of francophones in the county should continue to hover around the zero mark. And since the move towards more facilities is financed by local boards of education, our board need only transfer students requesting francophone instruction to nearby Simcoe County. The same holds true in Victoria County.

That's the economic advantage. The moral advantage is that our often-underrepresented franco-Ontarians will have a good case at Queen's Park for more funding to establish these facilities. If francophone-represented boards like Simcoe's are to be expected to provide "equal opportunity service" they had better become eligible for more provincial funding.

Our board's support gives the other boards some leverage.

The Victoria County Board of Education will state their views on the situation tonight (Wednesday) and it's likely they will echo the view of their northern counterparts.

Coming of age

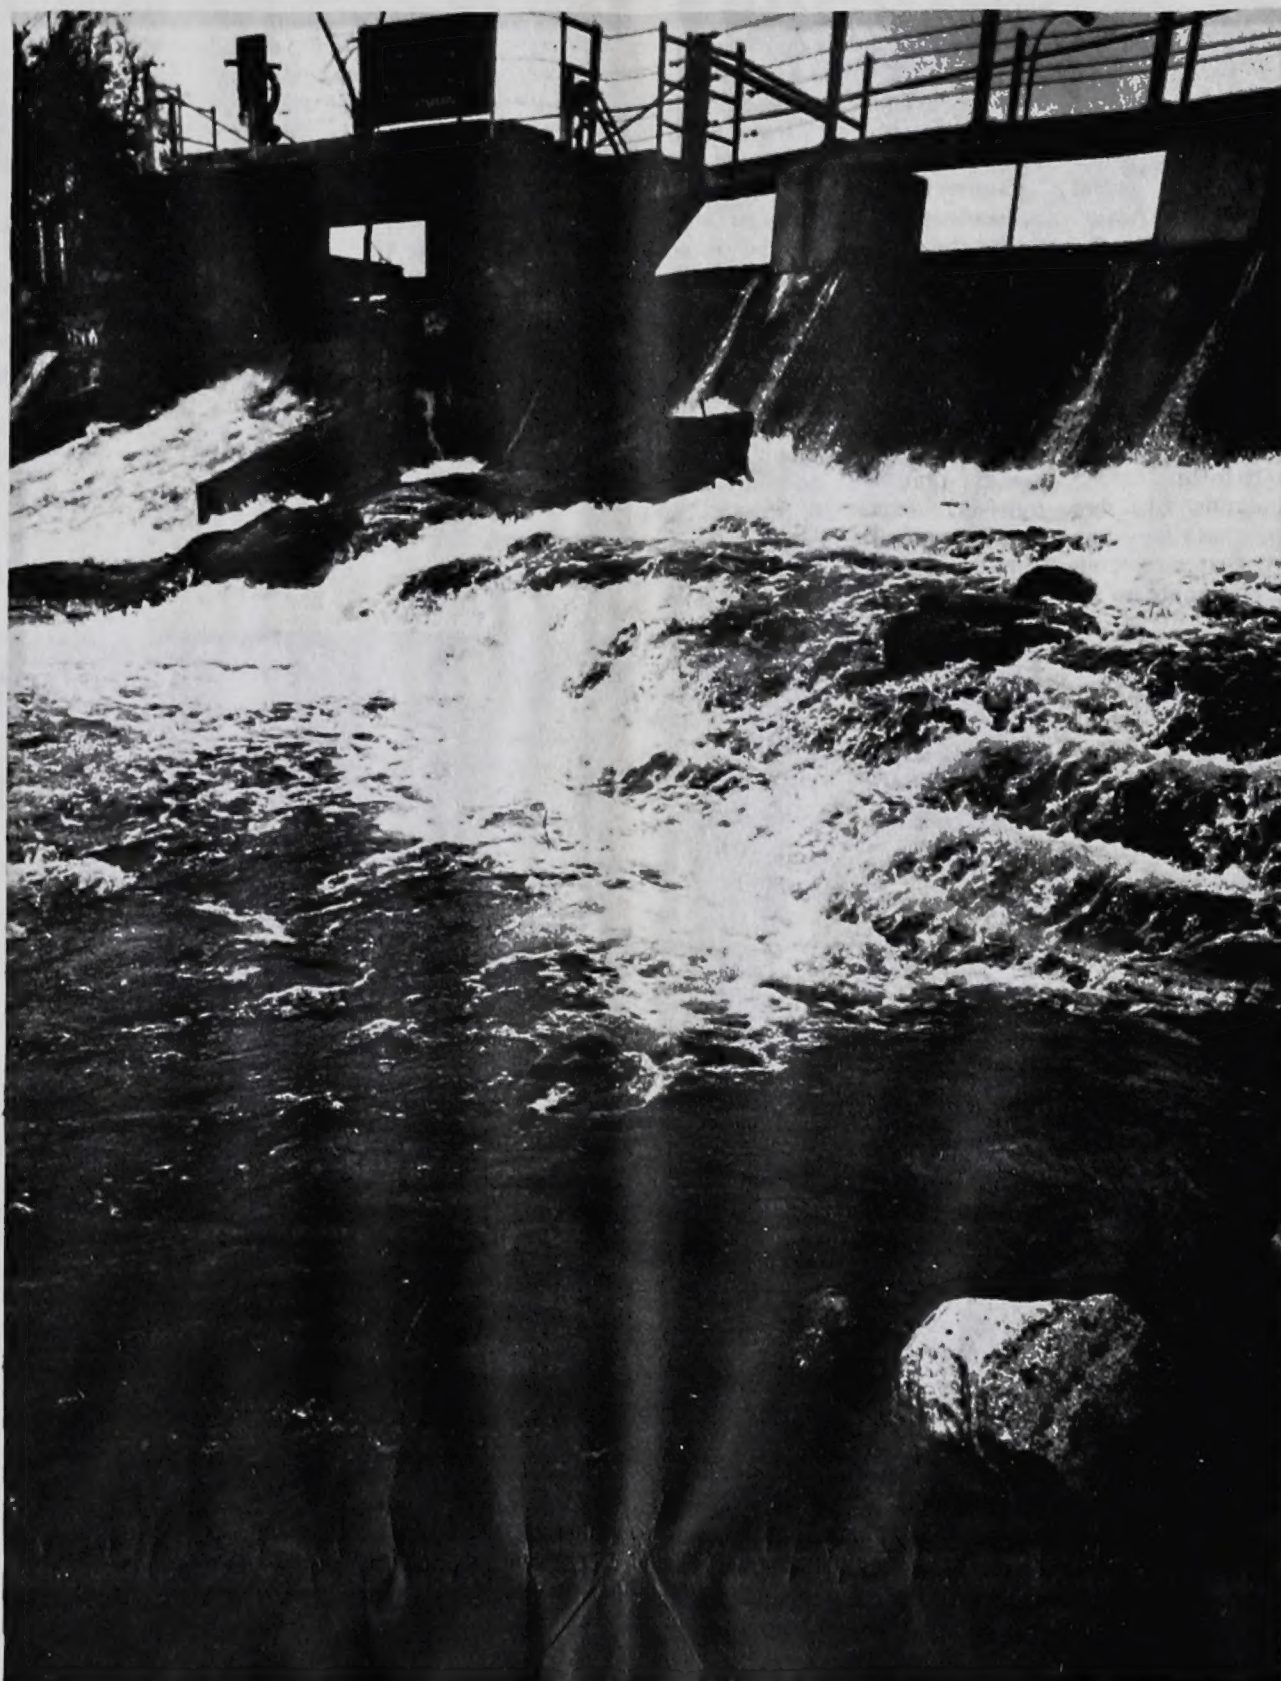

A ceremony to commemorate Haliburton County's loss of "provisional" status is all set for next week. Minister of Municipal Affairs and Housing Claude Bennett will unveil a plaque and launch the new commemorative trade dollars May 18.

The switch to true county status is especially satisfying to our municipal politicians. Three County Wardens -- Murray Fearrey, Ron Gambell and now Bill Howe -- have spearheaded the complicated drive towards the implementation of Bill 191.

The move, according to county information, "solidifies the Haliburton identity on a permanent basis" -- rather than risking the possibility of our county being divided among Victoria, Peterborough or Hastings Counties.

It also has removed the irksome question "what does provisional mean" and lays to rest any concern about the area's political and economic stability.

Most importantly it removes the outmoded Haliburton Act of 1874 -- legislation that was aimed, so long ago, at establishing logging and railroads here.

Monarchist wants Royal Anthem, Dominion Day

To the Editor:

It is evident from the current leadership race of the Progressive Conservative party, and from the prime minister's stated intention not to lead the Liberal party in another election, that Canadians face a new generation of political leadership who will, for good or ill, guide our Dominion's fortunes through the 1980's and beyond. A central question which must be put to all contenders for office, and especially to the leaders of parties, is as to their stance on maintaining the Constitutional Monarchy, that pillar of Canadian democracy on which rests so much of what is just and decent and traditional about our country.

Rejecting the monarchial minimalism of the past decades, which has seen an often subtle erosion in both the substantive powers and symbolic presence of the Crown in Canada, the Monarchist League of Canada has prepared a manifesto, listing eight reasonable demands which, we believe, Canadian loyalists should make of their public officials with respect to the Monarchy.

For instance, we want the Canadian Citizenship Act to be amended to remove any doubt that the members of our Royal Family are indeed Canadians; we wish the status of God Save The Queen as Royal Anthem to be enshrined by Statute; and we wish to see the proud, indigenous name 'Dominion Day' restored as our national holiday, rejecting the sleepy duplicity by which 'Canada Day' was imposed upon us.

Readers who might wish to obtain one or more copies of this manifesto for their own consideration and, hopefully, for passing on to their provincial and federal legislators, should write to The Monarchist League of Canada, 2 Wedgewood Crescent, Ottawa, Ontario K1B 4B4. We must act now to assure the future of institutions which we have too often tended to take for granted!

Yours faithfully,
John L. Almers,
Dominion Chairman & Founder

Snow on Mother's Day, a tuxedo in the rain, and floods

I'd never even been to a wedding in my life until Saturday, when former Echo reporter Joe Banks got married to Diane Closs (who used to live, with parents Joan and Wilmer, up by Halls Lake).

What a hectic weekend it was. Friday wasn't too bad -- just a party at Joe's in Almonte, and the "traditional" hotel room for the wedding party afterwards. Joe and I talked well into the "wee hours" -- which didn't help us getting going the next morning.

On Saturday, we picked up our tuxes (arguably the most cumbersome garment yet devised by mankind, replete with silly suspenders, a pretend vest without a back, and garotte-like elasticized ties. We of the wedding party got our haircuts, and by three p.m. just a scant hour remained of Joe's bachelor existence.

"Just think Joe," I said, turning up the radio. "This is the last song you'll hear as a single man."

Fittingly, the song was "Down Under" by Men at Work, which of course features the deathless lyric "you'd better run, you'd better take cover."

"Turn it off," said Joe. I think he was beginning to be a bit nervous as we whelmed into the church yard.

The United Church minister, Rev. Jack Loughheed, tried to calm us down with a little newspaper shop talk, a bit of politics...even hockey. But we both were fidgeting. I for one feared dropping the ring, or inadvertently tripping the maid of honor on the way out of the church.

To add to the general atmosphere of finality there was a pipe organ playing in the church, and a kilted piper (not even Earl Cooper) outside, piping the guests in.

But when the door opened, and we assembled at the altar, everything ran smoothly. It was a beautiful wedding in a beautiful church.

When I finally got back here, I found the Essoville Inn partially submerged, and the PineStone Inn experiencing unusual high water. Snow was falling gently -- even though it was May 7 -- and I was battling a terrible cold, which I picked up while running around outside in my tux, in the pouring rain.

I think with all respects, I'll get married at city hall -- another wedding like that will kill me.

Feir Play

The weather conditions here in Haliburton really seem to be changing. When we wanted snow this winter to help along the skiing, snowmobiling and other winter sports that go along to help out the economy we couldn't seem to get it. Now when we expect to get nice sunshiny days in this so-called spring we are having, we are getting anything but. Take for instance last weekend. It seems very hard to believe that we would wake up last Sunday morning on Mother's Day to find it snowing and very heavy at times. We hope that this isn't a sign of things to come this spring and summer. A fellow told me on Sunday that we had to face the fact that we were having a lousy spring. When you consider the cool weather we have been experiencing plus the heavy rainfall, it looks as though he could be right. Well, all we can say at the present time is to let a smile be your umbrella on a rainy, rainy day.

While reading the Toronto Star one day last week I came across a write-up that a funeral service was being held for photography teacher Nancy Fairley who was an expert canoeist, sailor and swimmer. According to the Star Nancy Fairley who died at the age of 58, was on the faculty of the Haliburton School of Fine Arts. Six years ago she opened her own photo school in King with partner Patti Parton. Born in Toronto, Fairley was educated in private schools in Toronto and Compton, Quebec. In 1945, she received a degree in physical education from the University of Toronto. Shortly afterwards, she joined the staff of Camp Tanamocoun, a girls camp near Haliburton. In the summers, she was employed as a counsellor and head of waterfront activities, in the off-season she was secretary at the camp's Toronto office. She was a long-time examiner for the Royal Lifesaving Society. She worked for Camp Tanamocoun until it closed about 10 years ago.

A present member of the Echo staff Terry Carr (nee Joyce) and a former member Joe Banks, who is now editor of the Almonte Gazette, were both married on Saturday. Terry was united in marriage to John Carr at St. George's Anglican Church in Haliburton while Joe was married to the former Dianne Closs of Halls Lake and Oshawa. This marriage took place at the Almonte United Church in Almonte. On behalf of the management and the other members of the staff of the Haliburton County Echo, we wish both couples many, many years of happiness, health and prosperity.

Donald Stansbury and wife of Gooderham, Ontario went to Oakville on Saturday, May 7 to help to celebrate his parents 75th wedding anniversary. Fred 92, and Stella Stansbury, 91 celebrated their wedding anniversary with four generations of their family. Minister of Transport James Snow congratulated the Stansburys, who live in Oakville Extendedicare home. He presented them with a plaque and two gold spoons.

The Salvation Army held their Red Shield Blitz Night in Haliburton on Monday, May 2 to kick off the Red Shield Appeal for 1983. The local Salvation Army backed up with the help of the C.G.I.T. girls were out in force all over the village. Just shortly after the blitz got underway heavy rain began to fall and some of the girls who were soaked right through continued to make the calls but due to the weather some houses were missed. If you haven't been called on please send in your donation to the Salvation Army at Haliburton. Please help the Salvation Army face the needs of today and the next day, and the next. Give to the Red Shield Appeal. Give us this day.

Haliburton County apparently isn't the only place that has a deer population. One expects to see deer in some localities but it is very unusual I would think to see a deer on the street of Mississauga. According to a recent write-up in the Toronto Star an injured deer was shot and killed by provincial police after going berserk on the Queen Elizabeth Way in Mississauga. It took several officers more than an hour to corral the deer into a roadside ditch west of Mississauga Road before it was shot dead. Police said that the doe had an injured back leg and may have been clipped by a motorist.

Andy Koornstra of Brantford, Ontario will be the guest speaker when Full Gospel Businessmen's Fellowship in Canada (Hyland Chapter) hold their monthly dinner meeting at the Royal Canadian Legion in Haliburton on Friday, May 20th at 7:00 p.m. Andy's testimony centres on the fact that he has been miraculously delivered from a life of homosexuality, alcoholism and drugs. He was involved in the gay scene in Toronto and Florida for over ten years. He is presently a member of the FGBMFI Brantford Chapter and on the Advisory Board of his church, an associate director for a street ministry and counselling centre in this community. In 1980 he married a beautiful Christian young lady and since that time, he and his wife have been able to share of the Lord's goodness in their lives, including appearing on the 100 Huntley Street program.

Well over 140 Rotarians, their wives and guests attended the Steak and Lobster night held at Wig-A-Mog Inn last Saturday evening.

Pic of the Past

Our thanks go out this week to Ruby Henderson of Kinnmount, Ontario who submitted this photo showing an aerial view of the village of Haliburton taken away back when. The village has changed a great deal since that time and many of the buildings shown in this picture are gone only to be replaced by new ones. It will be very interesting to see how many houses you can recognize.

Chamber of Commerce

Chamber feels huge response from advertising

It's been busy

This is an extremely busy time of year at the Chamber as we rush to get the various marketing efforts underway and respond to the many inquiries that are generated. The 30,000 brochures placed in supermarket displays have brought a huge response as has our advertising in the Toronto Star.

It's also convention time with the Ontario Association of Convention Bureaux just over and the Ontario Chamber of Commerce coming up the end of this month. It's not just attending the conventions that requires time but the putting into practice of the many new and exciting ideas when we return that also must be considered.

Last week, as well, Bob and Marj Jennings and ourselves were privileged as directors of Resorts Ontario to attend a reception and dinner for participants in the past Rendezvous Canada Resort F.A.M. Tour. We made some excellent contacts with travel wholesalers as far away as Australia and New Zealand, and bus tour operators from Washington, Philadelphia and New York. We also met the executive director of the Nova Scotia Board of Trade who of course, showed great interest in our new trade dollar that is being introduced May 18. (Flash - We just heard that the Dysart Recreation Committee are using the trade dollars for prizes in some of the Victoria Day celebrations on May 22.)

Arts and Tourism

We were very honored to take place in the panel discussion recently at the Rails' End Gallery on Tourism and the Arts and noted the many positive points that were made in support of this sector. It is worth remembering that when we support organizations such as The Guild of Fine Arts, the Agnes Jamieson Gallery, the Museum and the Gallery that we are not only contributing to the cultural good of our community, but that we are adding substantially to our attractiveness as a tourist area as well.

We were given some excellent advice by Diana Koechlin who was representing the Ministry of Citizenship and Culture on the panel. She suggested our promotion costs could be cut considerably if we all expounded with more pride about the attributes of our own community. The many fine facilities that have been created here through the hard work and dedication of community-minded citizens is something we should all be extremely proud of she said. She gave us an example, the fact that when the Rails' End Gallery is awarded full Gallery status it will be one of only 22 in all of Ontario that has this recognition. Quite an accomplishment in a community of this size.

Summer help

We are sometimes asked why we don't advertise the positions that are available for students at the Chamber during the summer. We use the Manpower Outreach office located in the centre of Haliburton village for three reasons. First of all because the Chamber sponsors the Outreach office, secondly because students must be registered there to qualify under the funded programs and last but not least it is a very convenient method of hiring employees.

We are hiring two counsellors this year, one for our Minden office and one for the Haliburton caboose. We also applied for one for Cardiff but were not successful. We have also been funded for a new program called Internship which should be very worthwhile. On this program a student is hired for 13 weeks for the next three summers. Each year they will be given an increased amount of responsibility. This program will be ideal for any student attending, or planning to attend a tourism course in college or university.

Harvest festival prizes

This fall during the four weekends of Harvest Festival we will be giving away four V.I.P. weekends to winners of the "I Want to Visit Harvest Festival" contest on C.B.C. Allin Miller, host of C.B.C.'s Ontario Morning radio show, will be promoting this contest and the many prizes included in each weekend. Those interested in donating any part of any weekend in return for the publicity this will generate are invited to contact the Chamber at 286-1760. We look forward to hearing from you.

Class N' Sass

"Gooderham's famous Class N' Sass Fashion Show" is getting underway at 8 p.m. this Friday at the Glamorgan Community Centre. We thank them for the personal invitation and hope many of you will be out there taking in the event.

C.O.T.A.

On Wednesday, May 26 the Central Ontario Travel Association will hold their annual marketing meeting at the Red Carpet Inn in Lindsay. Plans of both the C.O.T.A. and the Ontario government will be presented to inform those in attendance of how our area will be promoted in the coming year. Special guest speaker will be John Hope Johnstone who has recently been appointed the Marketing Agent for Resorts Ontario. We hope to see many of you there.

Report from Parliament

Bill Scott, M.P.

Scott critical of government non action in tourism

In December of last year, having felt constant frustration at the way this government has treated the tourism industry in Canada, our party formed a new caucus tourism committee under the chairmanship of M.P. Mel Gass. As the representative of this area -- where tourism is a vital part of our economy -- I joined the committee and have participated in its deliberations.

The co-ordination of the efforts of this committee led to the allocation of an Opposition Day on tourism April 14. At that time a number of issues were raised in an attempt to get the government to focus some of its efforts in the direction of assistance to tourism.

This industry has the greatest potential for job creation of any other. It has the potential to create 40,000 jobs annually in the construction and operating fields. Gass told the house that "the federal government should, through cooperation with the provinces, develop a national tourism industry. I urge the government to do everything it can to aid the tourist industry, thereby creating thousands of jobs for people in need of jobs, especially at a time when there has never been a greater need for jobs in Canada."

We had hopes that this debate would cause the government to consider establishing a separate department for this $16.5 billion industry, as the minister of state (Small Business and Tourism) said it was his intention to do so during a recent speech in Vancouver. At the least, it was expected that the debate would lead to some positive measures in the budget to stimulate the industry.

What the budget did was just the opposite. First of all, it ignored our pleas for a separate ministry. Secondly, it increased federal sales tax and the excise tax on alcoholic beverages thereby widening the gap between Canadian and foreign prices. It announced that the "Canadian ownership charge", a four cent a gallon tax on gasoline, will remain in effect thus keeping the price of fuel at a level far above that of our neighbour.

A six per cent tax has also been added to the cost of in-house movies at hotels and motels. In their generosity, the government doubled the value of goods that Canadians can bring back to Canada actually providing us with an incentive to travel abroad.

As my friend Stan Darling said in the house on April 27, "it is almost as though the government is saying to Canadians, 'Go and holiday somewhere else. We don't want your business.'"

This is not the attitude that our federal government should be supporting and it is the goal of our committee to present a viable alternative.

Queen's Park

John Eakins, M.P.P.

Disaster planning essential in smaller communities

The extensive damage suffered by many communities in southern Ontario as a result of a severe storm again draws attention to the need for the establishment of a consistent provincial policy by the government on the sort of support that will be available to communities caught in these circumstances, rather than leaving it simply to the generosity of the government of the day to decide.

The citizens in the Counties of Victoria and Haliburton could be caught in a similar disaster. My colleagues and I have been concerned for a number of years about the ad hoc approach to the assistance of individuals in communities where natural disasters strike and have made proposals that would have taken this matter out of the political sphere.

We believe that an emergency relief fund should be established to provide loan and grant assistance to individuals and communities subject to extraordinary expenditure due to natural disaster, and that the assistance be payable through municipalities or by the Ministry of Northern Affairs in the unorganized parts of Ontario.

The province's usual policy of matching funds raised by municipalities in times of disaster and after special resolutions have been passed and special arguments made is not good enough. Local government should not have to pay for the damage.

It is time Ontario had a clear financial program for the designation of disaster situations and a program whereby citizens directly affected could have immediate assistance.

Tile drainage loans

In response to pressure and questions in the Legislature regarding tile drainage loans, we welcome the announcement of the Minister of Agriculture and Food to reduce interest rates on these loans from ten per cent to eight per cent for the coming year.

We are still concerned, however, that the maximum loan assistance is to be continued at 60 per cent of the cost of eligible installations. It has been repeatedly pointed out to the government that this level should be increased to 75 per cent of the cost of the drainage work.

Moreover, we believe that the government's investment under this program is still about 40 per cent less than the demand, and we hope that in the upcoming Budget Statement funding for this program will be increased to $50 million per year.

It is well recognized that tile drainage is essential to the improvement of Ontario's foodland and we will continue to urge the government for increased assistance in this area.

Peterborough Heritage Festival to be held

The Fourth Annual Loyalist Heritage Festival, Liftlocks and Flintlocks, will be held in conjunction with the opening of the Trent-Severn Waterway on Saturday and Sunday, May 28 and 29 at the Peterborough Centennial Museum on Armour Hill. This year's festival will be the biggest ever with over 75 troops and followers depicting encampment life and recreating the battle techniques of the 1770's.

There will be mock battles with the roar of flintlock muskets and the flash of scarlet uniforms. There will be an authentic encampment and open fire cooking with demonstrations of candle-making, bulletmaking and other necessities of military life.

This year will see the addition of a craft fair with over 20 professional craftspeople exhibiting pottery, weaving, stained glass, sculpture, spinning, reproduction miniature furniture and hand-cast lead soldiers. Blanche Pownall Garrett will give a slide lecture on wild herbs, "A Taste of the Wild", each afternoon, and on Sunday, following the battle, the Peterborough English Dancers will perform. Spend a fascinating weekend on Armour Hill at the Liftlock and Flintlock Heritage Festival.

Township of Cardiff policy statements 001 to 019 and Appendix A were adopted in principle with revisions and amendments as recorded by the clerk. Copies of final document are to be circulated to members on May 6, 1983.

It was decided to continue the second special meeting without breaking for lunch or adjournment.

The second portion of the meeting was petitioned by a majority of members for the purpose stated as follows:

"To discuss misleading statements, violation of by-laws and Municipal Act and the ramifications of such wrong-doing."

Staff members, Tom Elliott and Ron Mumford were asked to leave the meeting.

• Moved by Paul Slighte, seconded by Ross Duncan that the council of the Township of Cardiff wishes to go on record that the reeve is hereby reprimanded for disposing of a municipal asset without approval of the majority of council and that the reeve is hereby ordered to retrieve and restore the asset to its original condition within 30 days of this date or otherwise reimburse the municipality in the amount of $2,013. Recorded Vote: Yeas - John Irwin, Ross Duncan, Debbie Donaldson and Paul Slighte. Nays - none. Resolution carried by four votes.

The clerk was instructed to notify the reeve, by registered mail, of the contents of resolution no. 75/83.

The special meeting adjourned at 15:30 hours.

Peterborough city and three counties form Children's Services group

The City of Peterborough and the Counties of Peterborough, Victoria and Haliburton have received a grant from the Ministry of Community and Social Services for the establishment of a Co-ordinating and Advisory Group for Children's Services.

The intent of the new

Co-ordinating and Advisory Groups is to re-direct and build on the work of the Children's Services Committees, to enhance co-ordination and planning in the delivery of services to children in our area.

The office of the new advisory group is located in City Hall, Peterborough.

This young lady was one of the many children preparing for enrolment at the Victoria Street School last Thursday. The kids were given their first task of kindergarten life -- sampling the many interesting items available.

Twenty on hand as Haliburton Goat Society launched -- Greer president

by Ernest Hills

A meeting of area goat enthusiasts was landmarked by the unanimous passage of a motion adopting a constitution which effectively created the Haliburton Highlands Goat Society. Some 20 people, all involved in, or interested in, the raising of goats, were on hand for this occasion.

Pursuant to a section of the constitution calling for the election of an executive committee, the following positions on the executive were filled: in recognition of her gargantuan efforts to inform and organize area goat farmers, Sharron Greer was acclaimed to the position of president. Vice-president of the new society is Ernest Hills, while the all-important position of secretary-treasurer was filled by Diane Johnson. To the two directors' positions Ken Auger and Phyllis McGrath were elected.

The new association welcomed the input of Russ Warren, who is currently the president of the Huronia Goat Club, vice-president of the Muskoka Goat Association, and also affiliated with the North Bay group of goat breeders. Our thanks to Russ for some of his insights during our initial labour pains.

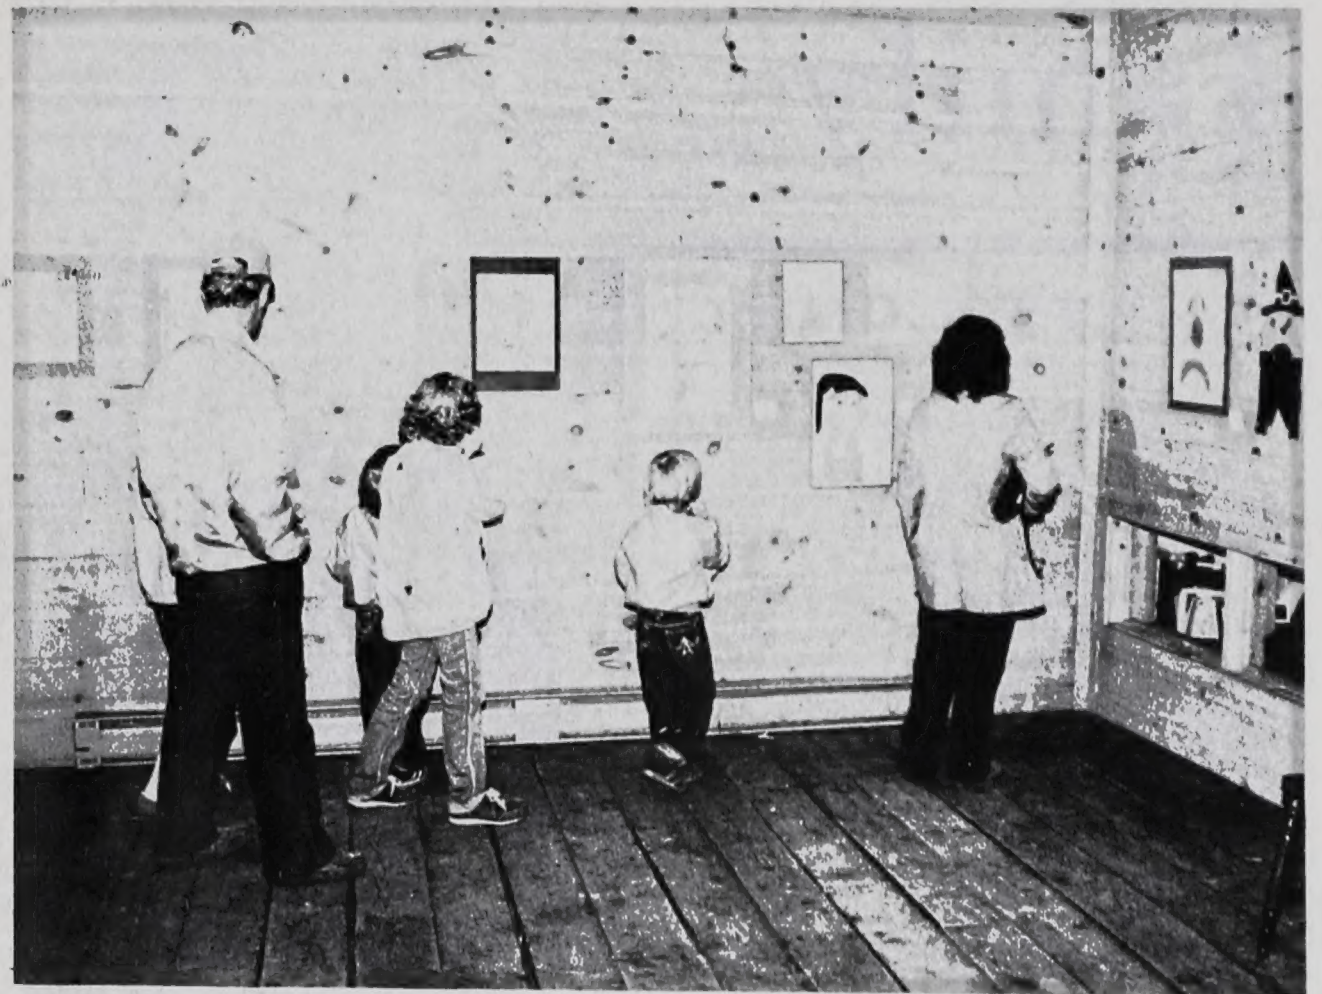

On behalf of the Huronia Goat Club, and the Muskoka

Association, Russ extended an invitation to all members of the Haliburton Goat Society, as well as anyone else who is interested, to attend the workshop planned for May 21, at the Warren farm in Orillia. These workshops consist of numerous facets of goat herd health and maintenance, with practical demonstrations on all aspects of raising goats. The society wholeheartedly endorses such cooperation between area goat clubs, and urges anyone interested to attend. For directions contact any of the society's executive, or the Warren farm directly at (705) 484-5517.

At this time the society would like to express its appreciation to Mr. Jerry Murray and family for their hospitality in hosting the May 8 meeting. Some of the areas for immediate consideration by the society's executive include the format for an informative newsletter-type package for the membership, promotional and fund-raising activities, as well as the planning of informative and entertaining general meetings.

All enquiries into the new Haliburton Highlands Goat Society are welcome, as are any new memberships. Date and topic for our next general meeting will be forthcoming. Meanwhile it's blackfly season...don't let them get your goat!

A display of children's art at the Rail's End Gallery attracted a large number of spectators last week.

There were skits performed by local school children. Refreshments were also served.

May "the month of the frog's serenade"

May is the month of the frog's serenade. When the warm spring rains fill the weedy ponds with renewed life, the swamps and marshes seem to overflow with exuberance of the mating calls of amphibians. Chorus frogs call out their "pr-r-reep, pr-r-reep", wood frogs softly chime in their quacking notes, bullfrogs to meet with council to discuss the manual. Carried.

"A Very Hot Potato"

Be careful of these matches, Uncle Sam.
Your friends they watch with fear and much alarm,
Since they're sitting on their pyres
Take the caution it requires,
Please don't light too many fires, Uncle Sam.

Oh the tinder's very dry, Sir, Uncle Sam,
And the atmosphere is ominously calm.
Hostile eyes play peek-a-boo,
All directed, Sir, at you,
So be careful what you do Uncle Sam.

It's a very hot potato Uncle Sam.
Your fingers still have burns from Vietnam.
Oh Sir, I do implore,
Ask that you give thought before
You breach El Salvador, Uncle Sam.

Hunger is the substance, Uncle Sam.
These guns, troops, and planes, not worth a damn.
T'will be ever to your shame
Should you set your world aflame
It's a tiger you can't tame, Uncle Sam.

The man from Gallilee

From the banks of the river Jordan, to the valleys by the sea.
There came a man named Jesus,
from his home in Gallilee.

He came to pay the ransome,
and to set all mankind free.
And he lived a perfect life on earth,
till he died on Calvary.

He healed the sick he helped the poor,
he took the children on his knee.
He asked his father to give him strength, in the garden of Gethsemane.

It was not by might or muscle,
that he used to set us free.
But he was Gods son born on earth,
to save sinners like you and me.

From the city of Jerusalem,
through the lands and or the sea.
There goes the message of our Lord,
the man from Gallilee.

Our administrator is back again, after a week's holiday. We children were as good as gold while he was away.

The service in the chapel Sunday night, we were glad the Thompsons were there, Ruth to play and lead the singing, Harold to read the scripture lesson and offer prayers. Then Rev. Burgess pulled up his sox and gave us a splendid talk on Peter's treasure box.

We welcome two new residents here at Hyland Crest, Mrs. Marjorie Shyler and Mr. Fred Bamforth. We hope they will like it here and we are sure they will fare the best.

We had a ham radio set up at Hyland Crest and the operator was our special guest. His name is Reggie Argyle and he has the cutest little smile. He said he would try to get long distance calls through to England, Ireland and even to Timbuktu. It was a real exciting day, and a real good chance to try to talk to relatives in England, Scotland, Ireland and France. We spent a lot of time and had a lot of fun but hadn't contact with many when the day was done.

Monday night movies showed, "Beautiful Lenard Islands", and "The Caravans". Rev. George Elliot held a very impressive communion service in the chapel on Tuesday along with his student minister Dennis Dolloff, the summer months to stay. We welcome you here at Hyland Crest, we hope you enjoy yourself and be truly blest.

Tuesday night Earl Cooper to Hyland Crest did come, not only brought his fiddle but wife and son. They played us real fine music as from the days gone by, like stealing a kiss from a little miss while coming through the rye, with Elinor at the piano and Earl on the mandolin, it was really lovely. They also played some good old hymns.

The ladies from the Gospel Chapel at West Guilford brought in the lunch on Thursday afternoon, after

Health Day to be held here May 12

"I Take Care of my Health -- Do You?" is the theme for the 1983 Canada Health Day on May 12.

This theme relates to individual responsibilities for health. Each of us has the opportunity of caring for our personal health through nutrition, fitness, smoking, cessation, safety, immunization, appropriate use of alcohol and drugs, and alertness to signs of disease. While some factors that affect health are beyond the control of individuals, others are determined by our own actions, habits and behaviour.

The Haliburton hospital has arranged for a special program on Canada Health Day to promote good health through personal acceptance of responsibilities. This program includes open house, for the community to tour the hospital to see the facilities offered to the community; and visitation to the hospital of the grade two students.

The students will be taken on a tour of the hospital, in small groups, where various demonstrations will be given by the hospital staff. Following the tour they will be taken to the board room where there will be a film concerning health. The Haliburton Hospital Auxiliary will serve refreshments to the visitors.

Canada Health Day is sponsored by the Canadian Hospital Association, a federation of provincial health/hospital associations, and the Canadian Public Health Association. The objective is to promote the welfare of the Canadian public through its leadership and assistance to members in the provision of better health services and to endeavour to protect and promote the health of the people of Canada.

Visit your hospital on May 12, 1 to 3 p.m.

Those vocal peepers!

The song of the spring peeper, which can be heard up to a mile away, is a big voice for a small package. An adult spring peeper is only about one inch long, barely larger than your thumbnail. The chorus of peepers is an all-male group; the female peepers are silently hopping through the underbrush to respond to this love call.

The peeper's song is bagpipe music. Frogs "sing" with their vocal cords, in much the same way as humans. However, a frog has a special advantage, in the form of an expandable throat pouch that can be inflated into a balloon almost as large as the frog itself. As the peeper flexes its muscles, it swishes air from the throat through the vocal cords into its lungs, and then back again to create double the music.

Spring peepers are one of the earliest frogs to migrate to the spring ponds.

Inflation, high interest rates, gasoline costs all good reasons you should care for car

Proper auto maintenance becomes more and more important to owners nowadays, simply because they can't afford to buy new cars as often as they did 10 years ago.

Inflation, high interest rates and the rising cost of gasoline have many Americans working to keep their older cars in good order.

Cost-conscious owners keep a careful eye on the fuel system. Not only are the parts expensive to repair or replace, but improper operation burns up extra fuel. Thus, it's important to keep the system in tip-top working condition if you want to put extra money in the piggy bank, not the exhaust pipe.

Proper maintenance of fuel system parts starts with the carburetor and choke. This begins with proper cleaning and lubricating. CRC Chemicals offers a complete maintenance product package to get the job done fast and efficiently.

A solvent-strong carburetor cleaner such as CRC's Clean-R-Carb should first be used to rid both the choke and carburetor parts of dirt, grease, road film build-up and shellac. A few quick sprays of an aerosol carburetor cleaner will clean the choke, linkage, throttle plates and jets before proper lubrication is applied.

A couple of well-placed squirts of CRC's popular 5-56 multi-purpose spray lubricant will then provide the ingredients to keep the moving parts moving and prevent the choke or the linkage from sticking. This condition can lead directly to wasted fuel consumption.

Even when a new or rebuilt carburetor has to be installed, proper maintenance with spray chemicals will help you save money and insure proper functioning.

CRC's heavy-duty silicone will aid proper fitting of gaskets and make the job of replacing those gaskets later much easier. Silicone can also work wonders in helping to keep a carburetor's expensive vacuum hoses soft. Constant high temperatures tend to make these rubber hoses hard and brittle. This leads to cracking and ultimate replacement.

When you look at repair and replacement costs today, this kind of ongoing maintenance pays off in the end.

Replacement parts for a carburetor can run from $5 to $20, while a rebuilt carburetor today costs $40 to $50. A new one, counting labor can run between $100 and $200.

Tires perform the life and death job of handling

They're round, black, often dirty and possibly the most boring feature of any automobile.

Your tires, though, are called upon to do the life-and-death job of keeping your car on the road.

Neglect and abuse them; it's a safe bet that sooner or later, they'll let you down, sometimes in a manner that's downright treacherous.

Interestingly enough, this is the time of the year when tires may have been giving a hint of just how touchy they can be when ignored.

There are two symptoms to watch for -- rising fuel consumption and a growing sloppiness in your car's handling.

The fuel consumption problem is not in itself

Proper tire inflation is essential to safety

conclusive. After all, colder weather inevitably means more use of the choke as the engine takes longer to warm up after starting.

When a car starts cornering and handling in an increasingly vague manner, though, it suggests tire pressures have dropped sharply, and in winter that may result from a drop in outside temperatures.

This happens because air becomes more dense as it cools, reducing the pressure within a tire.

Indeed, tires that were properly inflated only a couple of months ago can become dangerously soft when temperature drops to the freezing point.

If at 70F (21C) a tire gives a reading of 32 pounds per square inch, for example, at 32F (0C) its pressure would be down to only 26 pounds.

Not only will that sort of discrepancy make a car tougher to steer in an emergency, it will also accelerate tire wear, cause uneven wear and send you back to the fuel pumps more frequently.

The pit of it is that surveys have shown time and time again that very few motorists can really be bothered watching for or remedying such problems. Indeed, some appear to be under the mistaken impression that their tires are checked for them during routine servicing.

The fact is that the only proper way to care for tires is to check them thoroughly, regularly and ideally once a week. First thing on a Saturday morning is a good time before a car is driven. This is the only way to get a truly accurate pressure reading, which must be taken while the tires are still cold.

The key to the job is a good quality pressure gauge which can be bought inexpensively at any automotive supply store.

Be wary of trusting the pressure reading from the dial on a service station air pump. They're by no means always accurate.

While cool weather may soften tires, snow and ice will pose yet another tire hazard within a few weeks.

Indeed, the same danger may arise when a car is stuck in mud or sand.

The problem comes when panicky motorists become stuck and spin their wheels to the point that the tread begins to scream and steam.

A Transport Canada spokesman points out, "When one wheel on the drive-axle of a car is spin-ing freely on ice, snow, mud or sand, and the other wheel is stationary, the wheel in motion is spinning at twice the speed shown on the speedometer."

Newcomers to the downsized car scene packing for vacation travel may be pleasantly surprised by the cargo space available. It's a temptation to overload, says Car Care Council, pointing out that while the new, gas-efficient vehicle may be lighter by a thousand pounds or more, the weight of the load it may be expected to carry may stay about the same.

The relatively greater increase in weight can affect handling and can cause the car to "bottom out" on bumps.

To be sure the new, lighter car is travel-ready, try to trim as much weight as possible from your vacation gear.

Keeping that shine on new car isn't difficult

With the average cost of a new car somewhere around $10,000, motorists are turning to preventive maintenance to keep their cars longer. One of the best ways to keep your car looking better for years -- and get the best return when you sell it -- is to maintain its good appearance.

Quiz Yourself

It is relatively easy to maintain the finish of a car, but there is more to it than meets the eye. This quiz from Du Pont, a leading manufacturer of car finishes and waxes, should help you develop the proper treatment for your car's finish at the lowest possible cost:

1. True or false: Extremes of weather can dull a car's finish.
2. True or false: Polymer-type products that claim to penetrate the car's finish for lifetime protection actually last no longer than a good quality wax.

3. How often should you wax your car? (a) once a year; (b) twice a year; (c) every two months; (d) no set interval.

4. What's the best way to tell when your car needs waxing? (a) when the finish looks dull; (b) when spots cannot be removed easily; (c) when the paint starts to chip; (d) when water runs off the finish without beading.

5. True or false: If paint comes off on your rag when buffing the wax, it means the wax is too abrasive.

6. True or false: Applying two or three coats of wax will increase the durability of the wax job.

Answers

1. True. Sun, dust, rain and pollutants in the air all tend to dull a car's finish. Regular waxing works to remove built-up residue and oxidation from the finish, to keep your car looking its best despite extremes of weather.

3. (d). Assuming your car's finish is in good shape, there really is no set interval. It depends on the region of the country, weather conditions, and the type and condition of the paint finish. A car wax can last up to six months in a mild climate.

4. (d). Answers (a) and (b) are signals that it may soon be time to wax your car, but the first and best indicator is the water beading test.

Water beading is also the most reliable way to measure car wax durability. During a rainfall, look at the water on the hood of the car. If the water sheets or runs off the hood, it means the wax has worn off. If small, round, distinct beads stand up on the finish, you still have a good layer of wax left on your car.

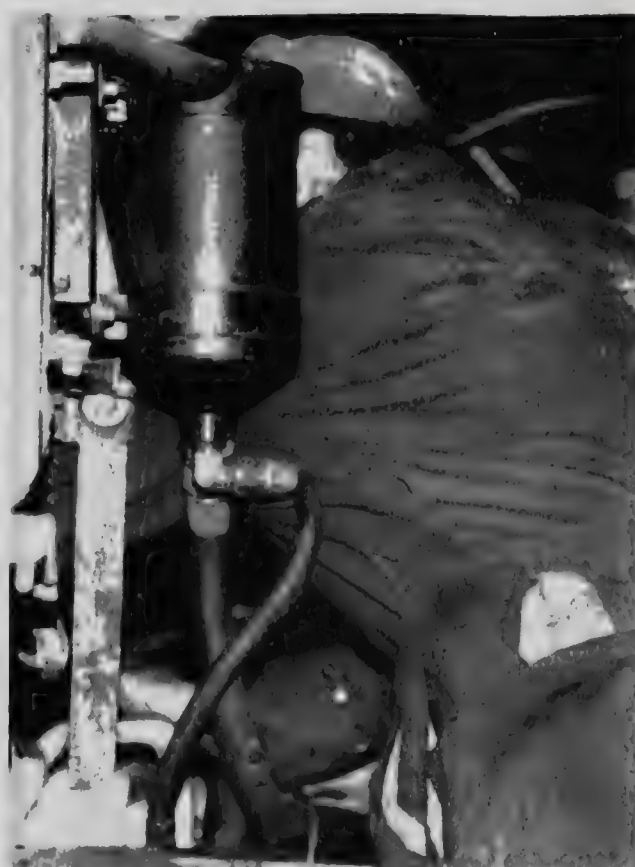

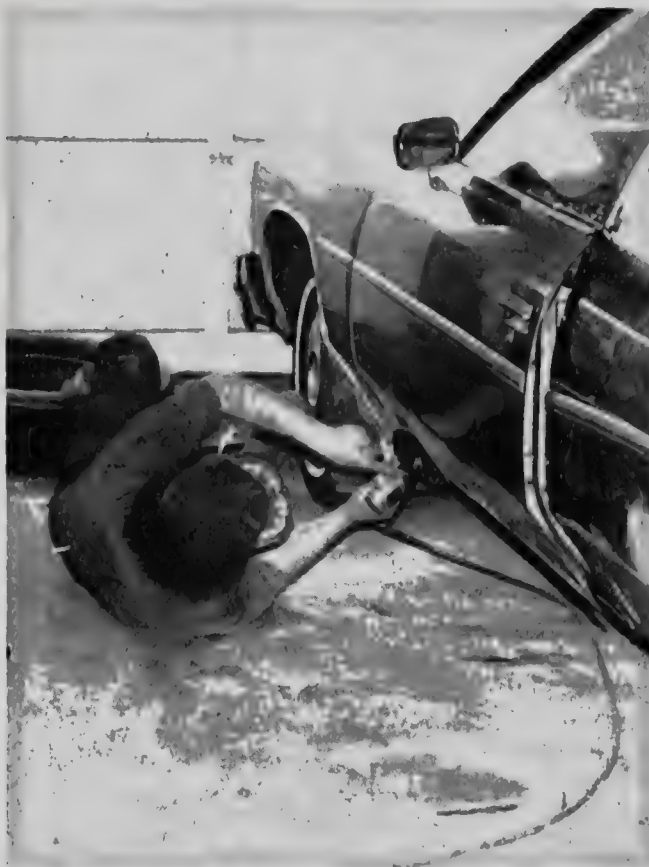

5. False. Many people are alarmed if paint color shows on the buffing rag when waxing. This simply means that the wax is doing its job. Waxing cleans your car so the color you see is really "dead" or oxidized paint being removed from the finish.

Car care is essential in prolonging engine and car life

Cars, like people, are at their best when the temperature is about 72 degrees. But cold waves and heat waves are tough on both man and machine.

If you're concerned about hot weather causing car trouble you have good reason. To help assure that your car is not one of those stalled along the side of the road this summer, practice these suggestions offered by Car Care Council.

- Be sure your cooling system is in good condition. The advent of hot weather could bring about the failure of a hose, belt or other components. How long has it been since you checked your anti-freeze/coolant?

- How about the condition of your tires? Heavy loads at high speed on hot surfaces can be hard on tires. To avoid failure, make sure they have plenty of tread and are properly inflated. Check them in the morning, when they are cool.

- How's your oil? Oil is hot only a lubricant, it is a coolant, as well. Clean, well-filtered oil will help your engine survive the heat.

- Check your transmission. This is especially vital if you are towing a trailer. Most automatic transmissions share their cooling system with the engine. If you are towing a trailer, you should consider adding a transmission cooler, an inexpensive device you can have installed at most service outlets.

- Pay special attention to your battery. Be sure it is properly filled, fully charged. Extreme heat can cut your battery's performance.

- Avoid sitting in stalled traffic for long periods of time with your air conditioner running. Unpleasant as thought as this might be, you should open your windows and turn on the heater.

Speed up the engine occasionally to keep the air flowing through the radiator, as the speed may be insufficient at idle in extreme heat. The air conditioner puts an extra load on the engine and can add to the overheating, whereas the heater provides extra circulation of coolant from the radiator.

Equally harmful, of course, is allowing the car to be parked with the engine and air conditioner running while doing errands.

- If you drive a late-model car equipped with a catalytic converter in the exhaust system, avoid parking on a dry, grassy area. On a very hot day, the converter (which can get quite hot under even normal conditions) can build up enough heat to set tall grass on fire.

For more car tips, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Car Care Council, 17000 Executive Plaza, Dearborn, Michigan, 48126.

Oil is the "blood" of your car's engine -- but there are different types

Motor oil performs much the same function in your car as blood does in your body. Both use four or five quarts of the fluid to carry potentially dangerous by-products away from essential operating parts.

And, just as blood types vary, there are different kinds of motor oils. But, rather than "O-positive" and "B-negative", motor oil varieties are given letter and number designations to indicate quality and ability to stand up to extreme heat and cold.

Knowing what the descriptions on a motor oil container mean can help you choose the best product for your car and your kind of driving.

Norm Hudecki, an engineer for Valvoline Oil Company, of Lexington, Ky., explains the basics: "SAE, one of the most common elements on an oil can label, stands for Society of Automotive Engineers. They set standards for viscosity.

"Viscosity refers to the thickness of oil. It affects engine wear, oil consumption and the ability to start an engine in cold weather. The climate in which a vehicle is driven and the type of driving done helps to determine what viscosity is best for your car," Hudecki continues.

There are seven viscosity grades. The ones with a "W" following numbers like 5, 10 and 20 are recommended for cold-weather driving. For example, 10W-weight oil would be good for cars driven in places where winter temperatures plunge to -10 degrees Fahrenheit.

"Combining the thin, 10W viscosity oil with 30-weight produces a multiweight oil that provides good cold-weather starts as well as tough engine protection once the engine is hot," he says.

On the other end of the scale are 50 weight "racing" oils that are specially formulated to withstand the extreme heat generated by high-revving engines. It is a very thick oil that coats and protects engine parts even at extremely high temperatures where other oils might thin out and not provide adequate engine lubrication.

Some oils meet only certain car manufacturers' requirements for oil quality, but others meet or exceed all car manufacturers' warranty specifications.

To tell if the oil you are looking at meets your vehicle manufacturers' requirements, the American Petroleum Institute has set up standards that use different letter combinations. "S" series oils are for gasoline engines.

API designation "SF" means the oil meets the lubricating needs of all cars powered by gasoline engines built in the 1980s. "SE" indicates the oil is recommended for cars built from 1972-1980. For cars built from 1968-1971, look for "SD" on top of oil cans. "SC" is the designation for vehicles built between 1964 and 1967.

"SA" classification oils should only be used for vehicles that require oils with no additives and are driven under mild conditions in mild weather.

"SB" oils are another type for old cars. "SB" oils were formulated in the '30s and should only be used for gasoline engines operating under mild conditions in summer temperatures.

"The 'C' series of API classifications are for diesel engines. Again, the higher up the alphabet the second letter is, the more modern the oil.

"CA" oils are for mild-duty engines. "CB" is for mild to moderate-duty lubrication. "CC" meets the needs of lightly super-charged diesel engines. The "CD" specification is for severe-service supercharged diesel engines of the 1980s.

Some specialty oils, like diesel/turbo motor oil, meet the needs of both gasoline and diesel-powered engines.

At the top is Bob Parker of Stan's Texaco, shown checking over a battery in a car for repairs. If you are to have trouble free driving then the electrical system in your car must be in good working order. Here, below, Brad McKnight of Minden Texaco Parts says spring is a great time to clean up your vehicle. He has everything on display to meet your car care needs.

you're merely waxing over the oxidized paint.

6. False. By applying a second or third layer you are actually removing the wax you just applied. The increased buffing it takes to apply extra coats may help improve the overall appearance, but won't put on more wax. So, one good coat of wax, properly applied, will do the job.

7. False. Today's top quality waxes are formulated to give you a durable shine in either form -- paste or liquid. The formulation you choose is a matter of personal preference.

Memories of Mother

Physical pain is hard to bear,
Harder yet are the pangs that tear
At my heart when a loved one has passed from my view,
And long ago memories well up anew.

Memories of childhood, memories of fun,
Memories of home life when I was young,
Memories of Mother and the prayers that she said,
Then kissed me fondly and tucked me in bed.

Memories of learning at Mother's knee
If I lived a good life, how good life could be;
Memories of scoldings, memories of love,
The real iron hand in the velvet glove.

Gentle, kind hands that wiped away tears,
Unshakable faith that overcame fears,
Tender, compassionate, yet strong of will,
Happy and smiling, I remember her still.

Erosion can be disastrous for farmers

Soil that is open to the impact of rain and wind is susceptible to erosion. Row crops do leave the soil exposed until the canopy can cover the ground. By leaving as much residue as possible on the surface or crimped into the surface, you can help anchor the soil to hold it in place.

Should you be considering further protection? Surveys done through the Durham West 125 Bushel Corn Club have shown that most of these farmers were making about two trips over the fields with a cultivator or disc in the spring. You should not need to make any more than two trips unless levelling the field or seeding down, or beans. Some farmers on sandy loam could also consider making only a single trip or even no till.

Nearly every farm has an area where the water will come to after spring runoff or a heavy rain. If enough water gathers in this area the soil will wash and produce a rill or small gully. If you have areas like this, then a grass waterway will provide the protection necessary to prevent the rill or small gully. If you have areas like this, then a grassed waterway will provide the protection necessary to prevent the rill or small gully from appearing again and again.

Most of the soil erosion occurs as a moving thin layer of soil which we have trouble seeing.

Thanking and giving them a special greeting, we had to leave for a resident's council meeting.

Those having birthdays in the month of May, Ida Schell, Millie Wood, Mary Grozell, Della Curry, Victor Spencely and Mark Schell. When some of our nurses go on leave, we really miss them so, I wish they'd tell me where they're going, or tell me where to go.

Thursday evening Douglas Ripley put on the bingo; he had a helper with him that no one seemed to know. We had a couple come in each Friday afternoon to lead us in a sing song and play some merry tunes. The lady had some humour poems to dispatch with ease; the gentleman takes great pleasure in fingering the keys.

We are sorry to lose nurse Mary Raby, with her friendly smile, she is going into business where she hopes to make a pile. Nurse Mary bowed out from here with grace, we hear that Ruby Graham is going to take her place. One of our kitchen staff is far from being dumb, she told me she has her boyfriend right under her thumb.

Doris Robertson, our activities director, has undergone an operation and they say, came through it fine. If anyone cares to send a card or maybe drop a line, the address is Peterborough Civic Hospital, room 423. We are all praying that she will be much improved in health and back with us again.

We are finishing this letter on Mother's Day. God bless all mothers we would like to say. It's a great day for mothers here at Hyland Crest, their sons and daughters come to visit them and all are truly blest.

THE HALIBURTON COUNTY ECHO AND MINDEN RECORDER

Kinmount Korner

by Millie Moss
Euchre scores at Galway, Wednesday, April 27 -- men's high, Peter Franzen; men's low, Jim Nightingale; ladies' high, Marge Int-Veer, ladies' low, Pat Booth; lone hands, Leon Wright.
Men's high for the year -- Harry Stuart; ladies' high for the year -- Flo Drinkle.
Dennis (Dannie) Dunbar at this time would like to thank all the friends who so thoughtfully remembered him while he was in hospital, with cards, phone calls, visits and just plain asking about him.

"Dannie" will be going to hospital again in the near future and it is hoped he will be back in good health very soon.

Hope Kim Newman is feeling better by now. I'm told the pickerel were just running as fast as they could at Gamebridge a week ago and crowds of people were on hand to watch the fish as they came right up out of the water.

Happy 18 birthday to Lisa Abella on May 1. A party was held in the dining room of parents' "T.J.s" restaurant, in held in the dining room of parents' "T.J.s" restaurant, in town, on Saturday, April 30 at which some fifteen young people attended.

A great time was enjoyed by all and at this time may we also congratulate Lisa on her admittance to Sir Sandford Fleming College next fall. Lisa, who was one of the 250 students to be accepted will study as Wild Life and Fish Technician. All our best to you Lisa.

Certainly hope all the ailing folks are well very soon: Hugh Phillips, Bill Stata, Shirley Harris, Ernie Anderson, Bill Moss Jr., Dave McNamara, Glenn Viney, Isabel Austin, Lori Newman, Ted and Elda Stokes to name but a few.

The Norland and Kinmount Women's Missionary Fellowship will be holding a banquet in the Kinmount Community Centre on Saturday, June 4 at 6:30 p.m. There will be special music and a message by Mr. and Mrs. Terry Wicks and Mr. Barker.

Anyone wishing to join in are asked to get in touch with Mrs. Olive Wilson, Kinmount, 488-2067; Mrs. Neath, Norland, 454-1165 or Mrs. Margaret Brohm, Miner's Bay, 286-2339. The admittance is $5 per person.

Ted Nugent, a popular recording artist in the States is in our area with a group of people, bear hunting, and have been regular customers at the Kinvale Inn in Kinmount. I'm told Ted Nugent is "a real down to earth guy".

Speaking of the Kinvale Inn, Jane Rolfe would like to thank very much, the girls who brought candles over to her so that she could get the mail sorted during the black-out of that bad storm last week.

Results of the 8 1/2 tables of euchre players at St. James Hall last Tuesday, ladies' high; Ruby Schell; ladies' low, Betty Lonsdale; men's high, Mike Cain; men's low, Ken Hyams; lone hands, Flo Schlosser.

Aileen Brown has been travelling back and forth to a chiropractor recently whom she says is helping with her bad back. Aileen was also telling me how much she enjoyed her birthday party last week and asked me to send along the following:

Thanks from Aileen Brown: A poet once, this sentence penned; The one is rich who has some friends. I read it and I thought how true! He must have known a group like you. That is a lovely "thank you", Aileen.
Happy 82nd birthday, Thursday, May 5 to Ambrose Watson.

We, Us and Co. Craft Shop on Highway 503, two miles east of Norland, will again be opening May 20 for the summer months. During July and August home baking will be available on the weekends. A large assortment of crafts for sale along with all kinds of tourist information.

The Norland Branch of the Canadian Society for Creative Leathercraft is holding a spring tea, bake sale, penny table and special draws in the Norland Community Hall, May 21 from 2:00 p.m. to 4:00 p.m. April 29, 30 and May 1 proved to be a very successful weekend for the Norland Branch of the C.S.C.L. when they were the hosts for the 33rd Annual Leathercraft Convention.

The event was held at the Royal Resort in Rosedale. There were 89 members registered for the weekend who hailed from Oxford Junction, Nova Scotia, Buffalo, London, Woodstock, Smithville, Hamilton, Brantford, Belleville, Toronto, Peterborough, Barrie, Shelburne, Fenelon Falls and, of course, the Norland members. The displays of leatherwork were very impressive.

Following the banquet Saturday night everyone enjoyed a fast trip around parts of Europe with Jack Chynoweth as commentator, assisted by his wife Esther doing the slides after which everyone could tap their toes or dance to the music of Basil Magee and his group. Jack and Eleanor MacDonald of the Royal Resort are very accommodating people to work with and sure helped our small group make the weekend a very big success.

Thanks to the 10 ladies who came out to our house on Tuesday, May 3 for an Avon tea. It was a very threatening day weatherwise and to the girls who couldn't make it out, due to miseries, sure hope you're feeling better by now. Gwen Mertin for one. Always enjoy having you over.

Re the open house birthday party to be held for Ruby Schell at St. James Anglican Church Hall, on Sunday, May 22. The time listed last week was from 2 to 4 p.m. Actually, the time will be 2 p.m. to 4:30 p.m. Best wishes only, please. Come out and help our Ruby enjoy her day.

Just got the news (Thursday, May 5) that Hugh Phillips is expected home from hospital on Friday.

Welcome home after a long time in hospital, to Margaret Telford. A physiotherapist has been visiting with Margaret and I'm assured she's coming along well now.

Happy birthday to Monica Alphonso on Thursday, May 5.

Last column I told you of the Kinmount Public School annual open house but since then have received further news of that event. The French play was entitled "La Tulipe Rose" and was performed by grades 3 to 5 and 5 under the capable guidance of Madame Bailey.

Mr. Dave Allen, who gave the computer demonstration is vice-principal of Fenelon Township Public School.

The Kinmount U.C.W. will be holding their annual salad supper in the Legion auditor-

Gooderham News

Baseball season is opening soon in Gooderham. The girls' softball team, "The Gooderham North Stars" will play their first game at Gooderham on May 18 at 7 p.m. They will meet the Snowdon team then. Karen Franke is their pitcher again. The manager and coach is William Dobson Sr. Come out and enjoy this sport and at the same time give the girls your vocal support.

A group of ladies meet every Wednesday afternoon in the basement of the Pentecostal church. They are a hive of industry in their making of quilts. This winter they have pieced and quilted eleven quilts which they have given to fire victims and others. They are still busy and expect to have some to sell later at a garage sale they are planning. Last Wednesday they socialized over a special lunch with a birthday cake to honor Sharon Sauve's birthday the next day.

Our school has some interesting events scheduled before the close of the term. On May 13 they are holding a "Pitch-in". This is a clean-up program where they will collect paper or other litter around the village and "pitch it into" containers they carry.

On May 18 their school trip will take them to the Peterborough circus and zoo. This will tie in with their study involving a "Circus Unit".

On May 19 the pupils will attend a play, "Charlie and the Chocolate Factory" presented at the Haliburton Senior Elementary School.

Congratulations to Alvina and Gary Cary on the birth of their son on Friday afternoon at Peterborough Civic Hospital. He weighed in at 10 pounds 4 1/2 ounces.

Visitors with Margaret and Dallyn Pickens were Mr. and Mrs. Philip Behnke of Brisbane, Australia. This was a stop-over on their six-month world tour.

Milton Cary has improved sufficiently to enable him to return to his home from hospital.

Barbara and Doug Higgins of Mississauga spent the weekend with Barbara's parents, Pearl and Albert Cary. This is the last call for Gooderham's famous "Class N' Sass" spring fashion show to be held at the Glamorgan Community Centre on Friday, May 13, at 8 p.m.

Those who attended last year will remember the charming commentator, Julie Hartin, from the Village Shop in Haliburton. So you will look forward to seeing her again.

We were very proud of our local models and know they will please again.

An added feature is a selection of sports lines from a Minden shop.

Door prizes and other favors will be given and refreshments served.

All are welcome including the men!

Norland Natter

by Kelly Graham

Hi! The number one song on 1050 CHUM for the week starting April 29 was "She Blinded Me With Science" by Thomas Dolby.

Now that the weekenders are becoming more and more frequent the local stores are keeping later hours. Two summer shops to open on the May 24 weekend are Mrs. Cameron's craft shop and Mrs. Chynoweth's craft shop. Both are about 1/4 to 1/2 mile east of Norland on Highway

The winner of Shirley Harrison's latest Wintario ticket was Buryel Kipp. Must be nice!

I would like to congratulate Debbie Angiers on her purchase of Souter's Variety and Gift Store in Cobocok. Debbie has been working in the store for many years and knows most of the customers.

I hope Cobocok residents will welcome Dr. Brian McNaull, his wife Hazel and their son Bejamin to the neighborhood. Dr. McNaull recently began work at the Cobocok medical centre.

The winner of the hockey pool for April 30 was Adam Greer.

CKLY radio station in Lindsay has given six Norland Public School students a chance to be heard on the air. Two students from grade six, seven and eight will record a safety message to be heard on the station during the upcoming summer.

Jason Cook and Tracy Davis were chosen for grade seven and Michael Morton and myself will represent grade eight. I'm not sure about those chosen from grade six yet. Keep your ear glued to the radio this summer -- CKLY is 910 on your A.M. dial.

I would like to congratulate Mr. and Mrs. Dale Jones who were blessed with a son on May 3. The baby will be a brother for Randi.

Their snack bar is open also for those not wanting a full meal.

I purchased a lovely white carnation this morning while shopping. This is something new, and when you purchase a carnation the money goes for M.S. research.

I'm reminded that soft ball begins locally this weekend. Round up the kids and take in a ball game or many because they (the ball games) will be with us for many weeks.

Mr. Claude McKay of Lindsay visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence McKay last week.

Happy 15th birthday to Teresa Martin who was a very nice present to her mother on May 8, 1968.

Hope you're feeling better soon, from that bug, Glenda Martin.

Bill and Virginia Barkwell have been enjoying the company of their grandchildren Sean and Terra for the past couple of weeks who were then joined by big sister, Lisa and parents Dorothy and Terry Murphy, for the weekend, from Burlington.

Tony Abela of T.J.s in our town has passed a course in soccer refereeing and is now a full fledged referee following the course which was open to all the Kawartha area. I understand Tony is the only man in this area to do this job and no doubt will be kept busy. He already has games listed in Peterborough and Bracebridge. Be careful Tony; you know what they do to referees!

Would you believe? Frost heavy enough you had to scrape windows and windshields the morning of May 6.

Nice to report Isabel Austin is feeling better again.

S.D. Gordon in his Quiet Talks on Home Ideals says, "A father and mother living together with their children, tender in their love, pure in their lives, strong in their convictions, simple and orderly in their habits, do infinitely more than presidents and governors, legislators and clergymen can do in making a strong nation."

Stay well and happy and be here next week. Once again -- I'm to be reached at 488-2353. Still having folks ask why they can't reach me when they dial 488-2399 and I keep telling you to read the Haliburton County Echo where you'll find my phone number every week - Bye now!

Norland Natter

There was a seminar on bass fishing May 7 and 8 at Thompsons Marine. There were tips on fishing and much more for those who were interested in the sport.

I would like to welcome some new permanent residents to Norland, Mr. and Mrs. Scott Hannon.

I notice that some work is presently being done on the new gift shop at our former township office.

Students at Norland Public School are presently training hard for their school track meet on May 17. First, second and sometimes third place winners from this meet will travel to Kinmount to compete in the Northern Schools track meet on May 31.

Sherry Jewell is presently resting at Ross Memorial hospital fighting a severe flu bug. I'm sure she would appreciate your cards and letters.

The euchre scores for Thursday, May 5, were as follows -- ladies high, Gayle Chynoweth; men's high, Doug Taylor and lone hands, Dale Lightfoot.

Well, looks as if that's it for this week. If you have anything you would like me to write up please call me at 454-3707.

By the way on Sunday, May 22 there will be a fireworks display at Ward Park in Norland. If you are part of the hockey pool admission is free, donations will be requested from others. You have the volunteer firemen to thank for the display, which will start at dusk.

The Kawartha Water Safety Committee is holding a bake sale in Coboconk, in front of Shields Hardware, on May 22. Some of the Norland ladies who had children in the swim program last year will be called for donations.

Also, here's some council news -- It looks as if the council is serious about a land-use zoning by-law for Laxton, Digby and Longford: the first reading was approved at the last meeting.

I think we can at last say that the last vestige of ice has disappeared from the lake. For some time the lake was open except for some loose pieces that floated around with the wind, but a week ago Monday, the 24 -- we scanned the far side with the glasses and there didn't seem to be anything there so we thought, this is it. The ice is gone for another year.

There is a bus trip being planned to Woodbine Race track for Thursday, June 23. Estimated return fare $11 for reservations and further information please contact Ralph Raven, 766-2605.

home the next day, stopping at places of interest along the way, including Fenelon Falls. They report a lovely party and the celebrants received many lovely gifts, including a money tree.
H.H. Before digging in the soil with your fingers, scrape your fingernails along a bar of soap, then enjoy the cool, natural feeling of the soil. When finished, wash your hands in warm water and the soap washes away, leaving your nails clean.

Mother

Not gone nor forgotten, she never will be,
Her imprint on me, my children can see,
I pass on to them ideals she taught me,
Her spirit's eternal as endless the sea.

AT HOME ON ANY RANGE.

Honda's family of All Terrain Cycles (ATCs for short) is just rarin' to take on rocky hillsides, sand dunes, mud and even hard-packed snow. And that makes them real handy for doing chores and having fun around the farm or cottage. Our gas-stingy lineup starts with the perky ATC70 for kids, and goes on up to the high-performance ATC250R competition model. Come on in and we'll make you feel at home with our ATCs. And at home on any range.
